

The town of Pushkar has a rule which says that eating meat is forbidden in the holy town. This was a problem for Harry who likes to have a feed of meat every day. After a few days of vegetarian food, Harry got hungry for meat, so he asked Susan to go with him to Ajmer which was a half-hour bus ride away on the other side of the mountain.

You've got to go a long way to get a bit of meat.

